

Wildlife moved into your living area? Want to move them out humanely?

Wildlife living in your house or under your deck is not safe for you, your children, your pets or the wildlife.

Why not live trap and relocate wildlife?

- Even live traps can result in the death of the animal and their offspring.
- Live trapping will not discourage other animals from taking up residence.
- Relocated animals may be killed for being in the wrong territory.
- In many areas relocating wildlife is illegal.

So, how do you humanely get them to vacate?

The goal of evacuation is to humanely make their current living arrangement so uncomfortable that they want to leave.

- Play VERY loud music for 72 hours straight directly into the area where they are living.
- Place ammonia soaked cloths around the area where they are living.
- Install very bright motion sensing lights .
- Install motion sensing sprinklers wherever they are entering.

NEVER confront wildlife. If you feel threatened in any way by the animals, please call a professional to remove the animals.

This information is only for wildlife living in or under your home. Not those just traveling through.

Please SHARE and help us help wildlife!